

TRAVIS FRAIN

Anti-Radicalisation & Extremism Speaker

Travis Frain survived serious injuries sustained in the Westminster Bridge terror attack on the 22nd March 2017, when he was only 19 years old. Over the years following he has worked in national security, at Scotland Yard in London and around the world in counterterrorism.

He shares his personal experience with terrorism, and how to spot the warning signs of radicalisation in order to educate and prevent others from falling victim to violent extremism.
